Species Wanted

You are renovating your aquarium building and hope to have it reopen by 1 January 2015. You wish to add several new species of corals. You would prefer not to collect from the wild or use a public distributor and are hoping some of the species may be available from other institutions. You enter the coral species that you are interested into the Species Wanted grid in ZIMS. A few days later you receive a call from another institution that has surplus of two of the coral species that you are looking for. You are on your way to creating exciting new exhibits!
