Tests and Methodologies

A constantly growing list of typical tests and the methodologies used by the testing laboratory when not otherwise specified.

Some of the test names in ZIMS include methodology, in these cases we will not add these to the list (example: Bornavirus PCR). This list is not complete as there are thousands of different tests from different labs, but if you have a submission to this list please let us know at Support@Species360.org. The tests listed here focus on those where methodology is not obvious from either the lab report, submission sheet, or from the labs website. Please attempt to find these details from these sources if not listed here:
